My Conference Goals

- Earn credit hours toward an industry certification or recertification program
- Be a part of a group that is committed and dedicated in continued and lifelong professional development.
- Learn ways to reduce costs, increase efficiency, motivate and advocate for patients, and various innovative ideas to use in my daily job.
- Create a list of exhibiting contacts I plan to meet and explore new technologies and resources for use with our patients and clients.
- Attend CMSA's Expo, where I will be immersed in the industry's most comprehensive marketplace for case management professionals.

Plan to Achieve Conference Goals and Demonstrate ROI:

To achieve these goals, I have identified the following list of sessions. Based on session descriptions and learning objectives, I believe these sessions will not only assist me in achieving my goals, but also allow me to build a professional network and bring new tools and techniques to apply in our organization.

List all sessions you plan to attend as well as the session objectives and indicate how the session will benefit you and your organization. An example is below.

My Session List:

Title: Population Health for Case Managers

Abstract: Population health is a clinical and financial model. Improving population health is the third initiative of the Triple Aim, which also include, improving the experience of, and decreasing the per capita cost of health care. It is similar to the public health organization, which operates in the background of the larger health care system dedicated to the treatment of illness and disease.

Case managers understand that healthy populations is a laudable goal. It is the merging of a healthy population concept within a payment model and tied to quality outcomes. This is profoundly different from the pay-for-service healthcare model on which most healthcare providers base their practice.

Case managers know the barriers of health illiteracy, social deterrents of care, chronic medical and psychiatric conditions, to the treatment of disease and achievement of health. Patients need case managers to guide them through the complex health care system. Population health cannot be successful without licensed, and often certified case managers and their direct interventions. It will take the case manager with the interdisciplinary care team to actualize it. Healthcare organization must move case managers from delivering isolated services, to the core drivers of the population health initiative across the continuum of care.

Learning Objectives:

1. Explain the Triple Aim.
2. Describe The Population Health Model and how it is related to the Triple Aim.
3. Describe how case managers guide patients through a complex health system and the social determinants of health.

Presenter: Mary McLaughlin-Davis, DNP, ACNS-BC, NEA-BC, CCM

Dr. Mary McLaughlin Davis became a certified care manager in 1993. She has provided care coordination services for inpatients, outpatients, and health care plans.

Dr. McLaughlin Davis as a clinical nurse specialist has worked extensively with patients having chronic disease, notably congestive heart failure and stroke. She is a senior director of care management for the Cleveland Clinic Health System and an adjunct nursing faculty member at Ursuline College.

Anticipated ROI: The presenter for this session is the current president of CMSA. She is in tune with the pulse of industry. Her presentation is timely for all case managers, as we guide our patients through the complex health care system. I hope to become better informed on this important topic, by gaining tools, ideas or insights that will help me best serve my patients.
